

Hendersonville Urban Bow Hunting Directory

The Urban Bow Hunter Directory, provided as a courtesy by the City of Hendersonville, allows hunters to volunteer their services to hunt on private property within city limits at the request of property owners. Hunters may sign up to be included in the directory, but the City does not vet or confirm the information provided. Property owners could initiate contact with hunters from the list and property owners are responsible for verifying the hunter's information. According to state statute, urban bow hunters must comply with all State of Tennessee hunting regulations including, but not limited to, obtaining a hunting license, appropriate tag and a hunter/landowner permission card. At the request of the property owner, the hunter should provide proof of all hunting licenses/tags, a liability waiver, the hunter/landowner permission card, bowhunter safety education certificates and/or demonstrate archery proficiency. The primary goal of many urban hunts on private land is to target doe (female) deer, hunters are encouraged to harvest the maximum number of adult female deer before harvesting a buck.

Disclaimer

The City of Hendersonville is providing information about the urban deer hunting directory solely as a public courtesy. The City of Hendersonville does not operate, sponsor, or endorse the directory, and makes no representations regarding the qualifications, experience, or safety practices of any participating individuals. All arrangements, participation, and reliance on any information provided are at the sole discretion and risk of the individuals involved.
